The background image shows a modern outdoor terrace. The walls are constructed from dark grey, rectangular concrete blocks with a staggered, interlocking pattern. Two contemporary chairs with metal frames and light-colored woven backs are placed in the corner. They have bright yellow-green cushions. The floor is made of large, dark grey rectangular tiles. In the foreground, there are several green plants with long, narrow leaves and small brown flower heads. The sky in the background is blue with some light clouds.

WASABASALT

In harmony with nature

The near-natural basalt appearance makes an impression with its reserved elegance: The delicate structure, the usually dark-grey colour and the clear contours of WASA Stonecast Basalt are particularly stunning in combination with materials such as wood, natural stone and gravel – ideal for terraces, entrance areas or modern garden design. A fine patina created by weathering underscores the natural charm.

WASA SLATE

Historically chic

The elegance and charm of entire eras: roughly-cut slate surfaces have adorned man-made structures for centuries. WASA Stonecast Slate encases artificial stone in an exterior with a natural slate appearance, and, thanks to its straight edges, is quick and easy to lay out evenly. WASA Stonecast Slate is perfectly suited for outdoor areas and is ideal for those with an eye for style.

WASA TIMBER

Nostalgic charm

Elegant and sleek wooden appearance: while it could well be the deck on an old wooden ship, our WASA Woodcast Timber is also excellently suited for terraces. Its natural appearance reminds you of adventure and travel on the high seas, simply promoting feelings of content. In contrast to natural timber floorboards, the stylish surfaces impress with their simple maintenance requirements – without splinters or the constant need for painting or treatment.
